

Transformative Visions: Art Show & Jazz / Spoken Word Concert

~ Call for Submissions ~

WHAT: A multi-media art show and jazz / spoken word concert lifting up a vision of peace, justice, and possibility for our world. Scheduled to coincide with the annual observance of A Season for Nonviolence, this event is intended to both challenge and inspire, offering a spiritually-rooted response to the troubling and urgent issues of the present day. The concert will be anchored by Destiny Muhammad, the “Harpist from the Hood,” leading an ensemble of outstanding local musicians.

WHEN & WHERE: March 2012. Exact event date and location TBA. (Probably 3/10/12)

PRODUCED BY: OneLife Institute, a nonprofit interfaith organization working at the intersection of spirituality and social action. Through classes, retreats, publications, counseling and consultation services we seek to support and empower individuals and groups in personal healing and the creation of a just, compassionate, and sustainable world. For more visit: www.onelifeinstitute.org

VISUAL & SPOKEN WORD ARTISTS are invited to submit works on the theme of Transformative Visions that encourage and affirm values such as dignity, freedom, equality, compassion, interdependence, peacemaking, justice, healing, and possibility. We seek original art and performed word that addresses a variety of activist concerns and carries a prophetic and empowering message of positive social change. Artists and performers from diverse communities and levels of experience are welcome to apply. Please see submission guidelines on p.2. Deadline for entries is 12/31/11.

SELECTIONS will be based on quality, “fit” with the Transformative Visions theme, and overall balance of the show.
