

“The Living Wisdom of Howard Thurman”

Now Available! Six CD Audio Collection...

Howard Thurman (1899-1981) was a philosopher, theologian, educator, reformer, mystic, and author of more than 20 books, including Jesus and the Disinherited and The Inward Journey. He championed Gandhi’s nonviolent methods in the West and inspired many in the American struggle for Civil Rights, justice and freedom. Thurman’s life and work reveal the powerful synergy between spirituality and social action, the inseparability of personal and social transformation.

“I am convinced that this man, who died almost thirty years ago, is a voice that our nation needs to hear now, a spirit that we need to engage now, as we struggle to understand ourselves as a people – our identity, our purpose, and the meaning of our marvelous diversity. I think that we need him now, because we are still trying to understand our own role as members – loving, caring, sharing members – of the human community.”

~ Vincent G. Harding, from the Introduction

“All of us who seek to deepen our lives are in need of trustworthy guides for the heights and pitfalls of the spiritual journey... Guides whose own lives portray the truth they have discovered. Guides who care about us and who endeavor to lead us to our greatest fulfillment. Howard Thurman is such a guide.”

~ Luther E. Smith, Jr.
